

Macina N. P. Bethel

B.Sc. Management Studies

First Class Honours

Macina Bethel is undoubtedly a results-oriented young lady who is satisfied with nothing less than top performance. She is uncomfortable with mediocrity and believes that it is tragic to do less than one's best. Small wonder that in four years, 2006-2010, while in full-time employment firstly as a teacher at one of Dominica's oldest traditional high schools then a banker at the National Bank, she could diligently execute her studies and earn the degree of Bachelor of Science in Management Studies with First Class Honours.

Macina brings to the table the discipline of six years of teaching at the Dominica Grammar School where, among other things, she has had to impart knowledge to teenagers with varying motivations while keeping them interested. Apart from teaching the actual curriculum, she was involved in organizing extracurricular activities such as outings, social activities and sporting events. Modelling good moral and social behaviour for her students came easily to Macina who, it must be noted, is also very much engaged in her church as a Sunday

Her duties at the National Bank of Dominica show clearly the confidence that her employers have reposed in her given that, as Assistant to the Corporate and Legal Secretary (2008-2010) and presently Board Secretary, she is in the “unenviable”, if privileged position of maintaining in safe-keeping very confidential company records. The foregoing would also indicate that she is an excellent and disciplined listener, with strong communications skills and in possession of a logical and rational mind. It is easy to conclude as well that she has strong work ethics, accepts responsibility and is excellent at multi-tasking and time management.

Her hobbies of travelling and meeting new friends speak to one who is friendly and therefore very at home among people, the refrain “a people's person” being quite aptly applied in her case. Macina Bethel would undoubtedly make both females and males of her generation and older, very proud indeed.
